I. Outline of the Doctor of Philosophy in Sustainability Science Programme

The programme aims to produce the policymakers and researchers of tomorrow, who will be at the forefront of global efforts towards a more sustainable future. It takes a transdisciplinary approach to providing the analytical and technical skills needed to advance creative solutions to issues of sustainability. Studying at UNU-IAS brings the unique benefits of:

- Collaborative research & practical experience,
- A global university within the UN system, and
- An international and interactive learning environment in central Tokyo

The PhD programme in Sustainability Science is a three-year programme that takes an innovative approach to sustainability, seeking to promote a better understanding of the issues by incorporating global change perspectives.

The programme will equip graduates with comprehensive, multidisciplinary knowledge of sustainability problems, and deepen their understanding of the role of environmental sustainability in addressing current issues related to global change. The programme provides students with unique opportunities to interact with leading scholars and policymakers through lectures, international conferences and workshops. Students undertake problem-oriented research by playing an active role in UNU-IAS research projects and acquire the quantitative and qualitative analytical skills necessary to understand the underlying principles of various systems involved in sustainability issues and debates.

The programme starts in September. By July of their third year, students are expected to complete all of the course requirements, obtaining at least 14 credits and completing a doctoral dissertation. Students can select courses from those offered by UNU-IAS, while also enjoying the opportunity to take courses at other leading universities in Japan such as the University of Tokyo, Sophia University and International Christian University.

1. A Focus on Sustainability: Our Thematic Areas

The UNU-IAS postgraduate programmes are closely interconnected with the institute's research activities. Students have opportunities to gain practical experience by engaging actively in research projects in UNU-IAS thematic areas. The courses offered correspond to these thematic areas under the overarching theme of sustainability.

- Governance for Climate Change and Sustainable Development (GCSD)
- Biodiversity and Society (BDS)
- Water & Resource Management (WRM)
- Innovation & Education (IVE)

Applicants are required to choose and apply for only one of these thematic areas and propose relevant research to conduct at UNU-IAS. A description of each area is available on the thematic areas page.

Student research is expected to contribute to the project with which the student chooses to be affiliated. Students hone skills learned in the classroom by conducting research in the field alongside experts and experienced practitioners.

2. Faculty

The programme is taught by an expert teaching faculty comprising both UNU-IAS academic staff and invited distinguished scholars and practitioners. Please see the list of faculties members here.

3. Programme Structure & Language

The programme is offered on a full-time basis only. The standard period to complete the degree requirements is 36 months or six academic semesters, excluding time spent on study leave of absence from the university. The degree is awarded upon satisfactory completion of 14 credits and successful defense of a doctoral dissertation. The language of instruction is English.

4. Diploma Programme for Specialization on the Paris Agreement (SPA)

UNU-IAS offers the SPA Diploma Programme focusing on the implementation of the Paris Agreement mechanisms, such as the enhanced transparency framework, nationally determined contributions, national adaptation planning process, global stocktake and market mechanisms. By strengthening national capacity in these areas, it aims to become an essential means of implementation of the agreement and develop future leaders who will be at the forefront of these vital efforts. The diploma will be granted upon satisfactory completion of the designated courses.

5. Joint Diploma Programmes

Students of the UNU-IAS PhD programme are also encouraged to pursue one of the two joint diplomas in sustainability science, which are offered in partnership with the University of Tokyo Graduate School of Frontier Sciences (UT-GSFS) and Sophia University. These diploma programmes require students to gain 18 credits, eight of which must be from courses specified by UNU-IAS and the partner university under the respective joint diploma programme. A joint diploma can only be awarded to students who successfully complete the three-year UNU-IAS PhD degree programme.

6. Learning Environment

UNU-IAS is a global university located in Tokyo, with all classes conducted in English. Sharing a building with many UN agencies, it offers a unique learning environment for its diverse and international student body. The PhD programme includes courses featuring international guest lecturers from leading agencies and institutions, providing students with opportunities to learn from their unique expertise and experience. The class sizes are sufficiently small, and students benefit from interactive and personalized teaching.

7. Facilities

The UNU Library offers full access to over 29,000 books and a range of electronic resources including e-books, e-journals and databases, and UN related materials. All students are provided with a comprehensive library orientation session at the beginning of their courses. Students also have access to the libraries of Aoyama Gakuin University, Bunkyo University, International Christian University, Ochanomizu University, Sophia University and the National Graduate Institute for Policy Studies.

8. Academic Calendar

The academic calendar shows important dates and university holidays for the academic year.

II. Admissions Policy and Requirements

1. Admissions Policy

The UNU-IAS Doctor of Philosophy in Sustainability Science Programme seeks students with the following qualities:

- Students who possess a firm academic interest in the pressing global issues on the UN agenda, in particular those of sustainability, and a strong desire to contribute to the solving of problems concerning global environment and society through a transdisciplinary approach;
- Students who have adequate research skills and clear questions related to global issues as well as a strong desire to engage in research in UNU-IAS thematic areas, with the potential and motivation to succeed in our programme;
- Students who have the intention to proactively apply academic research findings to policymaking, and aim to pursue careers in international fields in public service or private organizations, including United Nations, multinational corporations, and non-governmental organizations as well as research academic institutions.

2. Admissions Requirements

Applicants for the Doctor of Philosophy in Sustainability Science Programme are required to have met the following requirements by the application deadline in order to be considered:

- A completed master's degree (or equivalent) from a recognized university or institution of higher education in a field related to sustainability and a minimum of 2 years of professional field experience related to UNU-IAS research themes which was acquired after obtaining a university degree (full-time equivalent);
OR
Two completed master's degrees, at least one of which must be in a discipline related to sustainability studies (those who expect to receive a second master's degree before the entrance period of September 2026 may also apply);
- A GPA of 2.8 or above on a 4.0 scale (equivalent to 70 % on a 100 % scale) for at least one of the master's degrees earned; and
- English language proficiency (*).
 - 600 on TOEFL – Paper-Based Testing (PBT) OR
 - 100 on TOEFL – Internet-Based Testing (IBT) OR
 - 7.0 on IELTS – Academic format

 Please note that TOEFL and IELTS test scores are valid for two years. Applicants are expected to submit valid scores by the deadline (27 February 2026). Invalid test scores will not be accepted.*

* TOEFL IBT will introduce an updated score scale (1–6). For 2026 admissions, scores will be reviewed on the scale of 0–120.

UNU-IAS requires original TOEFL/IELTS score reports (no photocopies accepted) sent directly to UNU-IAS.

- TOEFL: Please order an official score report using the institution code D317 or search “United Nations University”. Please visit the TOEFL website for more information.
- IELTS: Please request an official report to be sent directly to United Nations University Institute of the Advanced Study for Sustainability. Please visit the IELTS website for more information.

Applicants meeting below criteria may submit a substitute document for the English language proficiency score.

- Applicants who have studied for at least two consecutive years in a degree-granting university programme taught entirely in English. If this is your case, you must provide a certificate from your university stating that English is/was your unique language of instruction. An original of the certificate must be submitted directly to UNU-IAS by 27 February 2026.

III. Application Procedures

All deadlines are indicated in Japan Standard Time (JST).

2. Application Checklist

The application form may take at least 120 minutes to fill in and it must be completed in English. It is composed of 12 sections of questions and essays. There are back/next buttons at the bottom of each section, which enable you to go back to previous sections to edit the answers before you click the submit button at the end of the form.

Before you start filling out the application form, please gather all necessary materials listed below and make sure to have all of them ready to fill in the form.

Section 1. Applicant Details

- Personal details (name, gender, birth date, email, telephone, address etc.)
- Personal identification document number (passport number, national identification number, etc.)

Note: Nationality and country of residence should be filled in using names from the UN list available here.

Section 2. Educational Background

- Qualifications (primary, secondary and higher education, years of education, years of attendance)
- Undergraduate and postgraduate education (institution, department, subjects, start and end dates, abstract of thesis, if applicable, degrees awarded, grades on a 4.0 or 100% scale, other grades)
- Lists of principal publications and practical accomplishments

Please list articles, books, conference proceedings, or other material published under your name, if any, with the name and address of the publisher and the date of publication, starting with the most recent. You may also provide a link of your publication(s) wherever possible.

- Recent conference presentations (if any)

Please provide your conference presentation experiences, starting with the most recent (name, year and location of the conference; title, format, modality of the presentation; role at the conference).

- Contributions to the professional community

Please list major professional achievements, starting with the most recent.

Section 3. Essays

- Choose one of the UNU-IAS thematic areas of study and research that you wish to conduct in the PhD programme at UNU-IAS.

Note: Please carefully review and choose a thematic area that is most suitable for your application and research interests. Irrelevancy may be regarded as an incomplete application.

- Reasons why you have chosen to apply for the PhD programme (word limit 500 or approx. 3,500 characters).

Please relate the reasons to your background and explain your career goals.

- Research proposal (word limit 1,500 or approx. 10,500 characters.)

Please explain as concretely as possible the research plan that you would like to undertake in the PhD programme, including research questions, objectives, methodology, data resources and how you would like to take a transdisciplinary approach to the issue. Please also indicate policy relevance of your proposed research and how you plan to incorporate gender perspectives.

- Abstract of research proposal (word limit 300 or approx.. 2,100 characters)

- Personal achievements (word limit 500 or approx. 3,500 characters)

- Please describe your personal achievements including extracurricular activities, volunteer work, leadership experience and awards you have received, as well as why you think they are important.

Note: Essay text will be automatically cut off once the character limit is reached.

Section 4. Professional Background

- Number of years of full-time work experience
- Contact information of your three most recent employers (name and type of organization, email, address) *
- Start and end dates, position title and supervisor's name
- Summary of job description including main responsibilities

If you have had more than three employers, you may include them in Section 10.*

Section 5. English Language Proficiency

- Type of proof of English language proficiency with valid score within 2 years (see page 3-4 on requirements), e.g. IELTS, TOEFL PBT or TOEFL iBT.
- Test result, date and examination number of TOEFL or IELTS

Section 6. References (Three Letters of Recommendations)

- Contact details for three referees (type of reference — academic or professional; name, position, organization, email, address, telephone) *

Notes:

- Please register two referees, at least one of whom must provide academic reference. The academic referee is expected to assess the applicant's academic competency in pursuing a PhD degree programme. The email address should be a professional one provided by the affiliated organization. (A personal email address might be acceptable in special circumstances with justification.) Referees should not be family members or friends.
- Before you apply, please make sure to contact your referees and ask for their approval to provide references by the designated deadline. As for the other information on the application form, any information about the referee(s) cannot be changed after submitting the application form and/or the registered information of referees will not be informed to the applicant.
- You should share all the instructions in Section 3 with each referee to ensure that the letters are submitted in the correct format. Each referee should send their reference letter directly to the Admissions Office via email. Applicants are not allowed to send reference letters to the Admissions Office.
- UNU-IAS reserves the right to contact your referees. Your referees will not have access to your application form.

Section 7. Funding

- Will you be able to fund your studies and living expenses in Tokyo for three years?
- Do you wish to apply for a scholarship and are you eligible for it?
- Type of scholarships that you wish to apply for (if applicable; either choose a scholarship that can be applied for through UNU-IAS or provide names of scholarships you are applying for through other organizations). *
- Justification essay for applying for a scholarship under UNU-IAS (If applicable; word limit 500 or approx. 3,500 characters)

Note: Essay text will be automatically cut off once the character limit is reached.

 If you are applying for any other scholarships provided by other organizations on your own, there is no need to submit the justification essay.*

You do not need to submit a separate scholarship application at this time. Each scholarship has its own eligibility requirements and applicants will be requested to provide additional documents when shortlisted for an interview.

The scholarships available at UNU-IAS are very competitive and limited.

Only highly qualified candidates from developing countries who can demonstrate financial need will be considered for financial support. If a scholarship is not available, applicants must secure their own funding to enrol.

Section 8. Financial Declaration

- Declaration of family members (applicable if you wish to apply for scholarships)
 - Number of people in your family and/or household members other than yourself
 - Name, relation to you, occupation and annual income
 - Total family income in USD (yearly)
- Personal Declaration
 - How will you be financing your studies at UNU-IAS? (personal resources, family resources, scholarships, employer, sponsorship, loan, others)
 - Personal resources/income in USD
 - Support from individual donor(s), including family or guardian, in USD
 - Support from sponsors — governments, sponsoring agencies and companies (awarded, haven't applied, applying, or none)
 - Date to be notified of result and amount of sponsorship (applicable if you are applying)

4. Application Deadline

- Online application form: Wednesday, 11 February 2026 (23:59 JST)
- Supporting documents: Friday, 27 February 2026 (23:59 JST)

Inquiries regarding unsuccessful submissions due to personal circumstances, including technical difficulties, will not be accepted after the deadline. Please ensure that you begin your application well in advance.

5. Key Dates *

- 11 February 2026: Application form submission deadline
- 27 February 2026: Deadline for submission of supporting documents
- Mid-late March 2026: Interview invitation email (shortlisted applicants only)
- Early to mid-April 2026: Interviews (shortlisted applicants only)
- Late April 2026 onwards: Application results announced to successful applicants only

Dates are subject to change.*

6. Receipt of Application

Applicants will receive an automatic email from the Admissions Office within 24 hours confirming receipt of their online application form. The Admissions Office may at any time request verification of the information and documents provided in application form and/or during interviews.

7. Selection and Announcement of Results

After the deadline, only shortlisted applicants will be contacted by email regarding the next steps. Please do not contact the Admissions Office to inquire about the status of your application unless you have been individually contacted.

- Successful applicants who are offered a place in the PhD degree programme will be notified by email at the address provided on the online application form. The letter of acceptance will list the necessary documents for the admission procedure. To secure admission, successful applicants will be required to submit the necessary documents stated under the Conditions of Admission on page 13, and to pay at least 50% of the tuition fees for the first academic year (6,000 USD, non-refundable) by the due date as stated on the invoice issued after the result announcement. Please see further information in the section IV. Enrolment Procedures as below.
- Unsuccessful applicants for will not be individually notified via email or telephone by the Admissions Office. If you do not receive any emails from the Admissions Office regarding your application by the end of May 2026, your application has been unsuccessful. The Admissions Office does not provide individual feedback on unsuccessful applications.
- Emails will be the primary method of contact. Therefore, it is essential for all applicants to provide a valid email address in the application form and regularly check their email. Please ensure that emails from UNU-IAS (ias.admissions@unu.edu) are not filtered into the spam or junk folder. UNU-IAS will not be held responsible for unread email.

IV. Enrolment Procedures (successful applicants only)

1. Date of Enrolment

Tuesday, 1 September 2026 (JST)

The date of enrolment cannot be delayed, regardless of any special circumstances.

2. Admission Conditions and Procedures

Successful applicants must submit all required official documents to the Admissions Office by the matriculation deadline. Failure to submit the documents listed below will result in the offer being incomplete, and the applicant will not be permitted to enrol at UNU-IAS. Any offer of enrolment or scholarship nomination (if applicable) will become invalid.

1. Submit a completed Acceptance of Offer form or a request for Deferral of Admission* by the deadline indicated on the offer letter, which is usually a week after the offer letter issuance.

UNU-IAS allows deferral of admission to the next enrollment in September 2027 by submitting a Request Form for the Deferral of Admission. To enroll in 2027, you must contact us by the date specified on the form. Requests received after this date will be considered invalid. Please note that scholarships cannot be deferred; if you defer your admission, any scholarship will be reallocated to an applicant on the waiting list.*

2. Submit the following documents via post by the designated deadline:

- Medical report (format will be provided by the Admissions Office)
- Signed Student Contract and Student Conduct Document
- Signed document of the Term of Reference for the Scholarship (if applicable)

3. Fees

(1) Tuition Fee

Application processing fee: None

Tuition fee: USD 12,000 per year *

To secure admission, successful applicants will be required to pay at least 50% of the tuition fee for the first academic year (USD 6,000, non-refundable) by the due date on the invoice issued after the result announcement and prior to enrolment. Students who choose to pay annually must make a full one-year tuition payment before the commencement of the academic year. Successful applicants are required to submit all documents and pay the tuition fees by the deadline.

* The fee is subject to change.

 UNU holidays are listed in the UNU-IAS Academic Calendar.

(2) Other Costs

The estimated total expenses for living and studying in Tokyo for three years are approximately USD 90,000, including tuition fees. Applicants must ensure adequate financial resources to meet the full costs of educational and living expenses.

In addition to the tuition fee and living costs mentioned above, applicants should budget for travel expenses to Japan and the initial living costs for settling into a new environment. Scholarship recipients should also ensure they have sufficient funds to cover travel and living expenses for first one to two months. Scholarship conditions are available here.

V. Important Notes

1. Important Notes for Application Procedures

- All application forms must be typed and filled out in English. No handwritten or incomplete application documents will be considered.
- All materials and documents submitted as part of an application become the property of UNU-IAS and cannot be returned.
- If any falsification is discovered in any of the documents presented for application, admission will be revoked.
- Unsuccessful applicants from previous years who reapply for admission must submit a completely new set of application documents, including letters of recommendation. Materials from previous applications cannot be used supporting documents.
- All applicants must choose one thematic area and submit the application form only once.
- Those who wish to withdraw from the application process must contact the Admissions Office immediately via the Inquiry Form (<https://unu.edu/ias/admissions/degree-programmes>).

2. Inquiries

Before contacting the Admissions Office, please read the Frequently Asked Questions to see if your question has been answered. For any unanswered questions, please use the Inquiry Form.

Please note that due to the high volume of inquiries and limited resources, it may take 1–2 weeks to receive a reply. Applicants are strongly encouraged to start the process early and submit questions well in advance, as replies cannot be guaranteed by the application deadline (11 February 2026 JST)
